2022 Coinbase Derivatives FIA Testing

Overview

The Futures Industry Association (FIA) Annual Disaster Recovery Test will take place on Saturday, October 14th, 2023. Coinbase Derivatives Exchange (CDE) will be participating in this testing. The goal of this exercise is to test disaster recovery capabilities among futures commissions merchants, brokers, trading system providers, back-office service providers, and recovery services providers

Please register with FIA using the following link and select "Coinbase"

Pre-Testing (Sep 23th, 2023)

CDE will be offering pre-test (telnet testing) on its DR site on Saturday, September 23, 2023 between 9 am and 11 am ET. For this round of testing, CDE will only be offering telnet tests (not end to end connectivity). The CDE team will be available to support this activity.

Testing (Oct 14th, 2023)

For the test date, CDE will be providing connectivity access to its DR data center. This test will cover logon, heartbeats, test requests and logouts for the services listed below. Note that order entry, market data subscriptions, trade matching and drop copy application-level messages will be out of scope for this testing.

Available Services (for connectivity testing)

- FIX Order & Market Data Sessions
- Binary Order & Market Data
- FIX Drop Copy sessions
- DR Exchange Admin Portal
